The Citizens Aroused.

At the luncheon yesterday the attendance was larger than for several days, and the gratifying reports of the committee chairmen were received with deafening applause. Mr. Joseph Bryan, chairman of the citizens' committee, made a short talk. He said in part:

made a short talk. He said in part:

"I feel that I have the citizens of Richmond with me in this matter. Some have fallen down, or have gone lame. It would require another Peter to say 'stand up and walk,' as some of these were lame from their mother's womb. The body of men who are behind this movement are the young men who are carrying us on to a new x and a better Richmond than those men have ever dreamed of. It is infinitely befter for the town that this is a popular movement, rather than one carried on by a few. I have been exceedingly mortified at the failure of those from whom we have expected support. However, I have the boys behind me. I feel this minute more hopeful for success than I have for a week. We are breaking the shell, the chrysalis will fall away, and a greater Richmond take a new flight. It will take a strong pull, for we are far from home, but the triumphant charges of the work have been made by young men."

This raising of $417 by the boys of the association, not the young men, but the fundry, is a feat indeed, when it

Captain Tuck had second place when the official figures were announced last night. Captain Midyette is third and Captain Wiley fourth. Captain Billups and his followers passed the $10,009 mark yesterday, this being double the amount that each team was expected to get Cap-tain Tuck is close to the $9,000 mark. Worth Much to City.

Worth Much to City.

Mr. J. C. Freeman, former vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, thinks the opportunity afforded by the Y. M. C. A. movement to the city is a rare one. He said yesterday:

"I understand that if the Richmond Y. M. C. A. succeed is raising the $200,000 in two weeks time it will be stowed by the world's record in such undertakings. This fact alone, independent of all other and greater benefits that will come as the result of such an achievement is in itself worth a great deal to this city from a commercial standpoint. It proves to the world Teat Richmond is ready to respond, and respond liberally, to worthy enterprises. Has any city a more valuacle asset than its young men? This proves what Richmond business men think of the young men of our city. We have sometimes been accused of being slow in blowing bubbles and tooting our own horn, but when something worn while is presented we can and do make records of which we are not ashamed. This is a rare opportunity for our city. If we are to take advantage of it we must act before Thursday night."

"I am exceedingly anxious that the movement to secure $200,000 for the Y. M. C. A. shall succeed. Judging from the reports in the papers heroic effort must be made by all of the friends of the cause. Real sacrifices have been made, but more are demanded. My judgment is that some will have to increase their subscriptions in order to reach the desired amount. I therefore wish to double my subscription, which was made through you.

Young Minister's Experience. Young Minister's Experience.

The following letter explains itself: Editor of The Times-Dispatch:
Sir,—I owe so much to the Young Men's Chistian Association that now, in its hour of need here in Richmoni, I feel that I must speak, for I am confident that if those who are enjoying homes and friends could but realize what the Young Men's Christian Association means to boys and young men who are coming from country homes and friends to work in our cities, that they would respond with such liberaity to-day as to ensure the success of the present building enterprise.

Allow me to relate my own experience to emphasize the value of this work:

work:

I went to a city at the age of four-teen and found employment at $2.50 per week. Three older brothers had preceded me a short time, and together we had barren, cheerless rooms on the fourth floor of a downtown tene-ment house.

Mother and the younger children, with the sisters, remained on the farm, and we sent to them what we could spare after paying room rent and boarding at restaurants to save ex-pense.

boarding at restaurants to save expense.

We knew no one in a social way, and there was no home at that three where we felt free to drop in and spend the evening.

I still have a sickening, lonely feeling when I think of how we wandered up and down the streets at night with nowhere to go except one place—the Young Men's Christian Association.

The har-rooms where light and warm, and we could hear the nusic from the street in the low theatre and dive; but we shrank from entering these places, for we had been reared in a Christian home.

Company, for breach of contract, came to a conclusion in the Henrico Circuit Court about 7 o'clock last night, the jury bringing in a verdict of $50 for the plaintiff. The suit was for $5.1000. The case has occupied the past two days, and has been bitterly contested, witnesses on both sides showing considerable heat. Mr. David G. Fulton, through whom the park was sold last year, was put on the stand by the defense, and later a number of witnesses were put on in rebuttal, who testified that they would not believe Fulton on oath. Fulton was later put back on the stand to defend his character, and told of the positions of trust in which he has been employed.

The proceedings in this case were delayed for more than an hour yesterday.

Because of what has been sainted in the foregoing report and in this memorymorning by the absence of a member in which he has been employed.

The proceedings in this case were delayed for more than an hour yesterday morning by the absence of a member of the jury, Mr. Frank Yarborough, When Sheriff Solomon telephoned Mr. Yarborough that the court was waiting on him he replied that his employer was sick, and he was unable to leave the store, saying that he considered that his first duty was to his employer, Judge Scottissued a rule for the employer, Mr. Irvia L.
